VOL. 37 BARIUM SPRINGS, N. C., NOVEMBER 1960 No. 11

The Thanksgiving Offering Sustains The Home

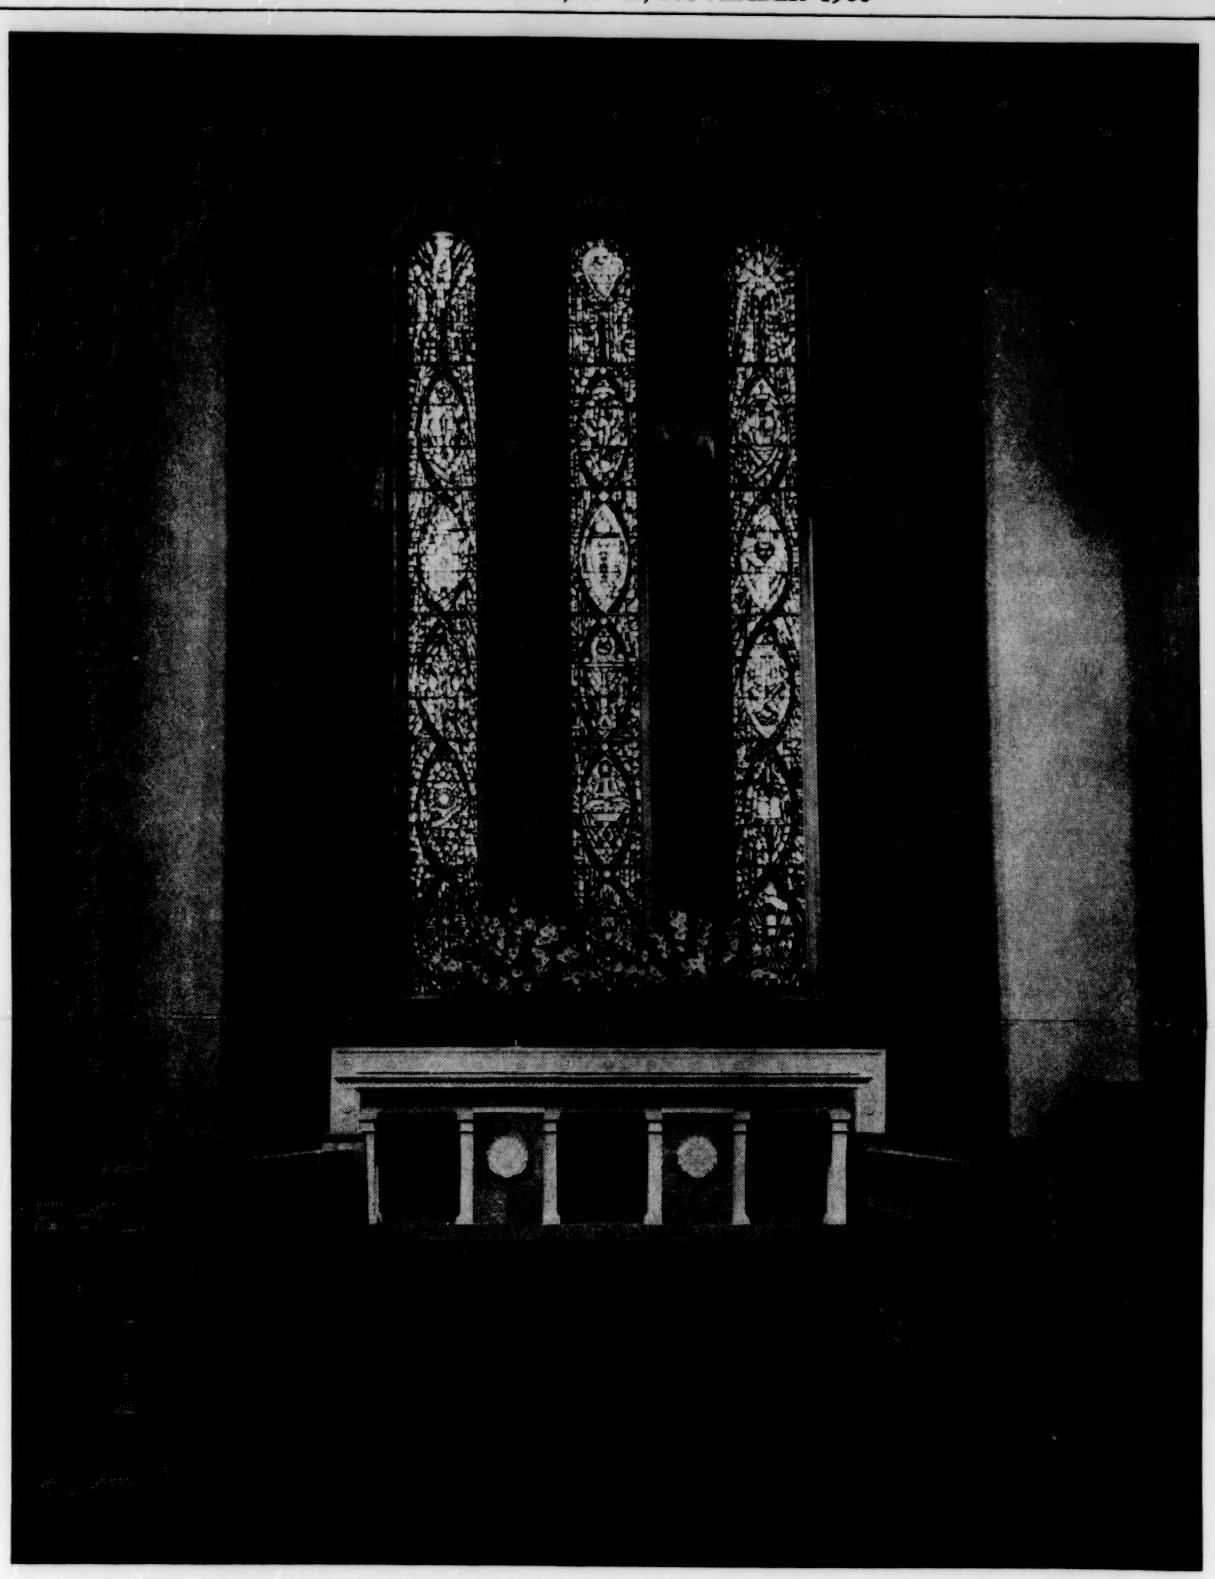
Traditionally the Thanksgiving offering is made for the Home at Barium Springs throughout all the churches in the Synod of North Carolina. This year again the Synod of North Carolina is asking the churches to give $100,000 for the work of the Home . This is nearly half the askings of the Synod and is indispensable if the needs are to be met.

It is true that the boys and girls of the Home have been very busy during the summer on the farm and the gardens, the dairy and in the orchard. They have been trying to provide for the needs of the table and to store enough to help during the winter. Meats and fruits and vegetables are essential. Grains and hay and straw have to be provided for the beef herd, the dairy herd and the hogs. The work of the children together with the giving of the churches sustains the life of the Home. There is no doubt about the children having done their part. Neither is there any doubt in the mind of the leadership at Barium Springs nor the boys and girls that the churches will do their part in sustaining the work of this campus in the name of Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving Service In Campus Church

On Thanksgiving morning the bell in the tower will call the whole family together for worship. From all the cottages the boys and girls will merge their paths at the underpass and approach the Little Joe's Presbyterian Church where the cross of Christ lifted high in the air signifies His presence and His forgiveness. The robed choir under the direction of Mrs. Clinton Clontz will lead the congregation in the singing of the Thanksgiving hymns. The minister, Reverend Hugh B. Carter, Jr. will lead the congregation in the Thanksgiving worship and all will join together in making the regular Thanksgiving offering for the Home.

After the service there will be leisurely visiting between the students with their friends and relatives until time for the dinner in the dining room. At high noon a special Thanksgiving dinner will be served with turkey and all the trimmings, thanks to the many thoughtful friends who remember Barium Springs at this season. The afternoon and evening will be spent in recreation and visiting with friends and loved ones. The day will close with sincere gratitude to Almighty God for His wonderful care and for the many friends of the Home who, especially, at Thanksgiving time remember the work of the church in the lives of boys and girls.



GIVE THANKS

Give thanks to the Lord of lords and to the God of gods, proclaims the Psalmist, for His steadfast love endures forever. (Psalm 136)

In giving thanks for turkey and dressing and good health and family and friends and good fortune, we need reminding that the basis for all our thanksgiving is in the fact that the steadfast love of God endures forever. It is as constant as the refrain in the Psalm.

Amidst all the changes round about us, the uncertainties, the evolutions and revolutions, the passing of the seasons and of friends, the see-sawing fortunes of nations and peoples—in the midst of a changing, inconstant, inconsistent, world, we can be sure of the constancy of God's eternal unchanging love for His people.

How constant is our basis for thanksgiving! We may be afflicted, but God's love is not withdrawn from the afflicted; we may be deprived of family ties that are dear, but He loves His children yet with a father's love and a mother's tenderness; we may pass through sore trial and testing, but we remain within the bounds of His amazing love; we may be facing personal sorrow or even death, but we are closer to the heart of God than ever.

Someone has said that neither death nor life nor angels nor principalities nor powers nor things present nor things to come nor height nor depth nor anything else in all creation will be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. Comes the refrain of the Psalm: "For his steadfast love endures forever." No wonder the poet tells it in every verse!

O give thanks unto the Lord, and know why: For His steadfast love endures forever.

Two Dozen New Children Admitted This Fall

Twenty-four boys and girls from the Synod of North Carolina have come to Barium Springs to make it their home. Already they seem like regulars, taking their places in the cottages, in the worship, play, recreation and school.

Jack Smith, Charles Smith and Cathy Jo Smith came from Thomasboro Church in Charlotte. Linda Truelove, Joseph Mack Truelove and Athol Elliott Truelove, Jr. came from the Highland Presbyterian Church in Fayetteville. Marvin Elliott is from the Eastminster Church in Winston-Salem. Rosa Lee and Diane Guin came from the Raeford Presbyterian Church in Raeford. David Brown joined his brother and sister, coming from Elkin, North Carolina. Jerry Wright, Wayne Wright, Janice Wright and Joan Wright, once living in Raeford, came to the Home from Fayetteville from the Village Presbyterian Church. Royce Lee Harris, Charles Ray Harris and George Wright Harris came from Lucama Presbyterian Church. From Raleigh and the Buffaloe Presbyterian Church came Roland LeRoy Richardson, Jr. and Dona Marie Richardson. Ronnie Nicholson and Ricky Nicholson came from the First Presbyterian Church in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Deborah Kennedy came from the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Charlotte. Anita Bowers came from the Second Presbyterian Church in Mooresville.

Further applications are on file and it is anticipated that the Home will be serving two hundred children at Christmas time.

Thanksgiving Materials Sent To All Churches

Within the past few weeks, bundles and packages of all sizes and descriptions have been mailed from the Home to the churches throughout the Synod of North Carolina. These packages contain pamphlets which give information about the work at Barium Springs, posters which show a typical campus scene, and offering envelopes which can be used to make an investment in the lives of the boys and girls at Barium Springs.

The materials were mailed to the ministers. More can be obtained upon request to the Home.

We grow only when we are thoughtful. We live only when we serve. We are compensated in a permanent way only when we do something worthwhile for somebody else.
